MYTH VS FACT

5 myths about Claude skills

All five sound right. Swipe for what a skill actually is.

Spoiler: it's a folder.

MYTH

PEOPLE SAY

“A skill makes Claude smarter.”

ACTUALLY

Same Claude. It just stops guessing at what you already wrote down.

MYTH

PEOPLE SAY

“It's a new model, or a fine-tune.”

ACTUALLY

It's a folder of markdown files in a GitHub repo.

MYTH

PEOPLE SAY

“A skill checks its own facts.”

ACTUALLY

It can't notice its instructions have gone stale.

MYTH

PEOPLE SAY

“A skill stops you being wrong.”

ACTUALLY

You only have to write down why you were wrong once.

MYTH

PEOPLE SAY

“You can tell plausible from correct.”

ACTUALLY

From the inside they read identically. So the check gets written down.

THE MORAL

The smallest trick in AI, and one of the most useful.
