A THOUGHT EXPERIMENT

Ship it, or stop?

Production throws one error. Your laptop throws a different one.

SWIPE →

WHAT MOST OF US DO

A nearby error feels like confirmation.
So we ship.

WHAT I DID

I shipped. Wrong twice over. It looked done for about a day.

THE RULE I KEEP NOW

The gap between the two errors is the finding. Stop there.

THE MORAL

What's the most confident wrong fix you've ever shipped?

