A THOUGHT EXPERIMENT

You came alone. Who do you walk up to?

Twenty minutes of break. A room full of strangers holding coffee.

SWIPE →

RUN 1

Most of us pick whoever is nearest the urn. Or nobody, and answer emails.

RUN 2

Before the day you saw who's coming: three heads of events, two venue managers, one from a museum.

WHY IT CHANGES

Walking up to the wrong stranger costs ten of your twenty minutes.

THE MORAL

Same room. Same twenty minutes. A completely different break.

